Radio and TV personality Danny Marks with Alec Fraser at the Dominion

Danny Marks and Alec Fraser have shared stages in the GTA for over four decades.

Danny hosts JAZZ.FM91's Saturday Night Blues Radio and HIFI TV's "Cities in Blue."

He also holds a lifetime achievement Maple Blues Award. Alec Fraser could cover the walls in his den with MBAs and he's produced several Juno Award winning albums.

You can be sure that these two will bring a unique and innovative approach in the blues to Minden.

More than that, things will go off the rails once Danny lets flow with a stream of consciousness.

Noted for his humour and talent as a human jukebox, you might hear bits and pieces of anything, from Johnny Cash to Led Zeppelin. For that matter, you may hear Johnny actually sing Led Zeppelin.

Don't say you weren't warned. Expect a night to be remembered.

Tickets are available for the June 6 gig online at DominionHotelPub.ca or by pickup at the hotel, 113 Bobcaygeon Road in Minden.

OSGA 55+ event coming to the Haliburton Highlands

As we prepare for the upcoming Ontario Senior Games Association (OSGA) 55+ regional games to be held in Midland this Aug. 26 there are numerous activities taking place in the county through to the end of July. Events from bid euchre to pickleball and shuffleboard are being held at over 10 different venues.

One of the more senior participants, Bruce Armstrong, is registered in a few events at the great age of 94 years young. Bruce has been in the games before they were the OSGA 55+ Games.

The modest registration fee of $15 allows an individual to participate in as many events as he or she would like. All events, locations, and dates are outlined on the OSGA website under District 11. Further information and registration particulars may also be obtained by contacting Doug McIntosh at 705-489-3850.

Remember: it is the participation, not the competition, that counts.

Shout Sister Haliburton choir fundraiser concert for Abbey Gardens

Northern Lights Performing Arts Pavilion
5358 County Rd 21, Haliburton
Friday June 12
7:30 p.m. start - Doors open 7 p.m.

Haliburton's Shout Sister! choir is making a "joyful noise" for Abbey Gardens. Laurel McCauley directs as the choir continues the Shout Sister tradition of giving back to our communities.

We dedicate our annual fundraiser to helping our communities. We are also found throughout the year performing at other fundraisers and at seniors homes. Our performances are joyful occasions and our audiences respond with delight to our enthusiasm and energy.

We do not audition and we sing a fun variety of music from pop and Motown, to folk, to a touch of country and blues. We learn from recorded tracks so we require no reading of music. Our method is fresh and fun and we are a warm and welcoming community.

Abbey Gardens is an inspired community project that encourages visitors to think more sustainably about land, food, energy and economy. The two-acre market garden offers fresh ideas about local food and inspires collaboration in our growing community. The modern straw bale sustainable building housing the Food Hub and community kitchen cooks up healthy experiences and provides lasting memories for community members from near and far.

In addition to helping nature reclaim the land, they are dedicated to demonstrating innovative and replicable solutions and practices that will inspire generations of good stewards for our earth and people. Their sustainable community-based programming is an important engine for economic and social success in Haliburton County.

Shout Sister Choir invites you to help support this worthwhile cause.

This is an all-ages show. Bring the whole family!

Admission $15, Age 8 and under free

Tickets available from choir members or at the door

Boating etiquette

Living Large

Humour by Steve Galea

A lot has been written about how to operate a boat, what kind of boat to get and why you should get a boat. But precious few words have been expended on how to get a boat.

Rest assured, boat acquisition is an art. You just don't walk out the door one day and return nonchalantly with a boat. Spouses notice these things and very often ask unpleasant questions.

"Do you know the number of a good divorce lawyer?" immediately comes to mind.

I blame this on the surprise factor.

The way around this is to prepare your spouse for the purchase by uttering hints that support the purchase.

Here are a few examples.

1. Every time you see a flood on the six o'clock news, say, "A big boat would have come in handy there huh?"
2. Take your spouse to a romantic dinner and then say, "How would you like to go on a cruise?" Then wait till the third glass of wine to explain you meant around the lake in a new bass boat.
3. When you go grocery shopping together, make note of the price of fish and say, "I know a way we can lower our grocery bills."
4. Explain that if you get a big enough boat, you won't have to build that spare bed room in the basement.
5. Tell your spouse you saw your canoe and old tin boat getting amorous and that you wouldn't be surprised if a new arrival was on the way.
6. Mention that if you had a new boat you'd be spending more time at the lake and less time learning how to play the bagpipes.
7. Promise that this time you'll consider the length of the driveway before you buy.
8. Mention that your friend uses his new jet boat just like a leaf blower in the fall.
9. Tell her Noah's wife wasn't so sure it was a good idea either.
10. Buy your spouse a set of water skis and then take him or her skiing for the weekend with your old tin boat and 4 horse motor.

Butterfly release offers magical opportunity

By Sara Gottardi

Butterflies and Roses, a family run and owned business is coming together with SIRCH community services. They will be collaborating together to build a new yearly fundraiser that donates proceeds to the Bereavement Support Program, operated through SIRCH. People are encouraged to come out and help raise money for an important cause regarding well-being and mental health.

"The life cycle of the butterfly is so magical that it helps us realize that out of struggle and difficulty can still come beauty and freedom," says Marilyn Rydberg, bereavement program leader at SIRCH.

It is important to spread awareness about mental health and well-being, which is what The Release of the Butterflies fundraiser is encouraging and recognizing.

Nobody is alone and there is help in our communities.

Butterflies are $30 and are of the Painted Lady species. The Painted Lady is native to Canada and seen all over in places such as the Ungava Peninsula in Quebec, Baker Lake, Nunavut, and Carmacks, Yukon.

There are many reasons people may be interested in releasing butterflies.

SIRCH staff member Wendy Iles said, "It could be someone who has been struggling with cancer and they finished treatment, so they release their butterfly in honour of completing treatment. It could be starting a new chapter in life, or it could be that you are releasing a butterfly in memory of someone. Maybe you just bought a new house, or maybe you just moved to the town and you think this is a great way to say 'hey, I'm here, let's release this butterfly.'"

Butterflies will be released around 2 p.m. Passersby are encouraged to stop and watch the ceremony of The Release of the Butterflies behind the Minden Hills Cultural Centre where people can also walk on the boardwalk and enjoy the scenery as butterflies fly off with people's hopes, dreams and wishes.

Iles said, "The bereavement program we run here is not funded by the government in any way, we get no money for it so the only way we can run the program is through private funding or fundraising."

There will be entertainment by Custom Blend, as well as a picnic lunch provided by Rhubarb for $5.

People who have donated for a butterfly will be able to register and pick up their butterfly 15 minutes before the ceremony begins at 2 p.m.

"We hope this day will help people come together in celebration and by releasing a butterfly perhaps release a wish, a dream or event of sorrow," Rydberg says.

The Release of the Butterflies event will be held on June 14 beginning at 1 p.m.

A native tale will be recited. "The butterfly has no voice, so if you whisper a secret, a wish or a dream to the butterfly, then you can release it out into the world and that butterfly can carry that wish and dream for you," Iles says.

Ontario amber alert program enhanced

The first hours after a child goes missing are crucial to their safe recovery. That's why it's so important to spread the word. The Ontario Amber Alert program utilizes social media to disseminae child abduction information. The viral power of social media enables us to reach hundreds of thousands of Canadians within mere moments of an alert going out.

Ontario Amber Alert has maintained a Facebook page to communicate Amber Alert information since 2010. The page has a following of approximately 185,000. It has been found to be very effective and, on occasion, has been used to communicate other child safety messaging. Ontario Amber Alert created a Twitter account, Amber Alert Ontario in 2014. The account has in excess of 10,000 followers and has been utilized during Amber Alert activations to communicate information to the public. This account has also been used to gain public attention during a number of high-risk missing children's cases.

Toronto-based Social Horse Power (SocialHP.com) is partnering with the Amber Alert program bringing technology that will allow social media users to donate their social media feeds in the event of an Amber Alert. This system interacts with Facebook, Twitter and Linkedin. Social media users can donate their social media feeds to the Ontario Amber Alert program by registering at www.socialhp.com/Amber-alert-ontario.

Social Horse Power is a platform that allows the community to donate their Facebook, Twitter or LinkedIn status in order to disseminate abduction information created by the Amber Alert team. Users always have the ability to vet the messaging and the information generated by trusted Amber Alert sites will post directly to the newsfeeds of the respective social media application in the form of a status update. This technology has been successfully used by the Missing Children's Society of Canada since May of 2012.

In January of this year, Facebook unveiled a new program in the United States that allows it to target a defined area with Amber Alert Activation information at the time of a child abduction incident. This notification system is now available in Ontario and elsewhere in Canada. The information is viewed through a responsive design poster that has the ability to format itself based on the screen size the alert is being viewed on. The poster will be available in both French and English. The poster will also appear on www.OPP.ca during any Amber Alert activation. The Facebook geo-targeted delivery system will post a notification on all Facebook users' newsfeeds within a pre-determined radius of the last known location.

Ontario Amber Alert launched these new social media program enhancements on May 25 in support of International Missing Children's Day. The Ontario Amber Alert Facebook page and the Amber Alert Ontario Twitter account will both serve as the platforms to publicize and officially launch these enhancements. Everyone has a role to play in protecting children. These enhancements and the public's attention to Amber Alerts support bringing children home safely.
